

The Days of the End-Time Elijah—

The Ezekiel WATCHMAN

“Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful Day of the LORD!”

Malachi 4:5; Matthew 17:10-11

God’s Warning Message

“... The end has come it has DAWNED for you; Behold it has come! ... a day of trouble is near; ... Now upon you, I will soon pour out My fury ... So, you, son of man: I have made you A WATCHMAN for the house of Israel; therefore, you shall hear a word from My mouth and WARN them for Me.”

Ezekiel 7:6-8; 33:7

Civil War is Coming—A WARNING from God of the Soon Coming War Between the States

“The Red Horse”

The Midnight Hour

Wars and Rumor of Wars

“And you will hear of Wars and rumors of wars ...”
Matthew 24:6.

“When He opened the 2nd seal, I heard the 2nd living creature saying, ‘Come and see.’

And another horse, fiery red, went out. And it was granted to the one who sat on it to take peace from the earth, and that people should kill one another; and there was given to him a great sword.”
Revelation 6:3-4.

Though this prophecy is referring to war between nations, it also has reference to civil wars such as the one experienced in America in 1861.

The Civil War in America

That war was a most terrible time when brother fought to the death against his brother—a huge slaughter. It is estimated 750 thousand men were killed during that 4-year war.

America's civil war was the bloodiest conflict of all wars.

It lasted for 4-years (1861-1865) fought between the United States and 11 Southern states that seceded to form the Confederate States of America.

A war that was fought over states' rights, and slavery.

The election of Abraham Lincoln as President of the United States was a key factor for the war. He was opposed to the expansion of slavery and intended to end it.

President Lincoln refused the acceptance of secession from the Union. This led to the battle that began at Fort Sumpter and brought brother against brother in a terrible bloody war.

History to Repeat Itself

There is a well-known saying about history repeating itself. “Those who do not learn history are doomed to repeat it.”

Biblical history substantiates that claim. For it is intended to be a teacher to learn from so as not have to repeat tragic events of the past.

The internet has made known a few have already spoken and written of the possible secession from this current Union in recent times. For they see major events are already taking place in this country pitting people against other people, with no hope for a resolution.

*INTERNET (Excerpts): David Blight – US NEWS.

Sun 20 Aug 2017

The years leading up to 1861 saw polarised politics, paranoia, and conspiracy theories. Sound familiar? One of the US's foremost historians reflects on America's Disunion – then and now.

'The civil war lies on us like a sleeping dragon': America's deadly divide - and why it has returned. ...

The civil war sits like the giant sleeping dragon of American history ever ready to rise up when we do not expect it and strike us with unbearable fire. It has happened here – existential civil war, fought with unspeakable death and suffering for fundamentally different visions of the future. ... we are once again in a political condition that has made us ask if we are on the verge of some kind of new civil conflict. ...

Lincoln did not fear foreign enemies. If “danger” would “ever reach us”, he said, “it must spring up amongst us. It cannot come from abroad. If destruction be our lot, we must ourselves be its author and finisher. As a nation of free men, we must live through all time, or die by suicide.”

Those words were prescient [having or showing knowledge of events before they take place] in Lincoln's own century. But they have a frightful clarity even today. Where are we now? Are Americans on the verge of some kind of social disintegration, political breakup? ...

Psychologically and verbally, in the comment sections on the internet, and in talk show television, we are a society, as Starobin shows, already engaged in a war of words. And it has been thus for a long time. Americans are expressing their hatreds, their deepest prejudices, and their fierce ideologies. It remains to be seen whether we have a deep enough well of tolerance and faith in free speech to endure this “catharsis” we seem to seek.

Psychological explanations, however, do not fully explain America’s current political condition. We are in conflict about real and divergent ideas. Are we engaged, half-wittingly, in a slow suicide as a democracy? Are we engaged in a “cold civil war” as one writer has suggested? Or does it feel like 1859, as another expert wondered, with so much rhetorical and real violence in the air?” ...

Is the US headed for another Civil War?

William G. Gale and West Thursday, September 16, 2021

Is it really possible that America could face the possibility of civil war in the near future? It may seem unthinkable, and yet there’s much to worry about.

A 2021 national survey by pollster John Zogby found a plurality of Americans (46%) believed a future civil war was likely, 43% felt it was unlikely, and 11% were not sure. War seemed more likely for younger people (53%) than older ones (31%), and for those residing in the South (49%) and Central/Great Lakes region (48%) relative to those in the East (39%). ...

The recent survey did not ask why people thought civil war was possible or how it could happen. But we believe there are several forces pushing many to imagine the unthinkable.

Hot-button issues: Racial equity, gun control, abortion, election legitimacy, climate change, vaccines, masks—the list goes on. Cultural, economic, and political issues generate outrage and hostility.

We already are seeing “border wars” via federalism, with individual states passing major legislation that differs considerably from that in other places. As an illustration, a new Texas law virtually outlaws abortions after six weeks of pregnancy (a time at which many women do not even know they are pregnant), while other states continue to uphold the 1973 Roe v. Wade framework and a clear majority of Americans support legalized abortion.

High levels of inequality and polarization: These hot-button issues are driven in part by the widespread and interrelated divisions that burden the country. Separated by ideology, race, gender, living standards, and opportunities for education and economic advancement, different groups have dramatically different views about public policy and American society. There can be large variations in opinions, depending on the issues.

Winner-take-all politics: The sharp delineation in perspectives does not, in itself, have to bring government to a halt; Tip O’Neill and Ronald Reagan were able to negotiate and reach agreements, for instance.

But today’s toxic atmosphere makes it difficult to negotiate on important issues, which makes people angry with the federal government and has helped create a winner-take-all approach to politics. When the stakes are so high, people are willing to consider extraordinary means to achieve their objectives. Winning becomes the goal over almost every other consideration, which leads to ...

Belief that the other side doesn't play fair: One of the most worrisome contemporary signs is the widespread belief that “the other side” is ruthless. Liberals see conservatives limiting voting rights, endangering democracy, and ignoring procedural safeguards, while conservatives think progressives are turning to socialism and disrespecting freedom and liberty. Viewing others with great suspicion and doubting their motives is an indication that faith in the system is eroding and there is little good will in how people deal with one another Prevalence of guns: As if the problems above were not enough, America has an extraordinary number of guns and private militias. According to the National Shooting Sports Foundation, a gun trade association, there are “434 million firearms in civilian possession” in the United States—1.3 guns per person. Semi-automatic weapons comprise around 19.8 million in total, making for a highly armed population with potentially dangerous capabilities.

Private militias: Rachael Levy of The Wall Street Journal writes that “several-hundred private-militia groups now exist around the country, and they have proliferated in recent years.” Current militias generally are made up of right-wing white men who worry about changing demographics, stagnating wages, and how the shift to a multi-racial and multi-ethnic America will affect them. These groups create the potential for violence because they tend to attract radicalized individuals, train members for violent encounters, and use social media to reinforce people’s existing beliefs. They openly talk about armed rebellion, and some members of these organizations already have engaged in violence and are helping others plan their own assaults and shootings.

STILL, CIVIL WAR IS NOT INEVITABLE

Take a deep breath. Despite the factors above, civil war is not inevitable. Indeed, that scenario faces several limiting factors that hopefully will stop the escalation of conflict. Historically, other than during the 1860s and the Reconstruction period, these kinds of forces have limited mass violence and kept the country together. ...” End of Excerpted Quotes

The Inevitability of Civil War

Due to all of the many and wide divisive problems within this nation's leadership and their constituents, as made known in the above optimistic writing, while considering what is presently taking place from the news media becomes easy to see civil war is indeed brewing!

To cement the fact civil war will take place by 2025—2026, Bible prophecy from ancient times, reveal it will occur during those coming years, and why.

The LORD God used a prophet of long ago, to mourn over the unsolvable problems this country is facing today.

Whether one would choose to ignore what is said by this prophet, if the person is honest, he or she could not help but see what is said by him is true today.

Habakkuk 1:2-4.

“O LORD, how long shall I cry, and You will not hear? Even cry out to you, ‘Violence!’ and You will not save.

The Hill – Homicides up 30 percent in largest increase on record, FBI says

BY MONIQUE BEALS - 09/27/21 12:22 PM EDT

The FBI's Uniform Crime Report for 2020 was published Monday, showing homicides increased nearly 30 percent last year from 2019.

This data marks the first time in four years that the estimated number of violent crimes in the U.S. increased from the previous year, the FBI said in a statement.” End of Quote “Why do You show me iniquity, and cause me to see trouble? For plundering and violence are before me; there is strife and contention arises.

The News Media reveals the plundering, violence, strife, and contention, among other divisive problems, is largely due to the defunding of the police. Antifa and BLM having taken over the streets of liberal cities, such as Portland, Oregon and Seattle, Washington, etc., being violent, destructive, and threatening.

Riots taking place destroying business, defacing federal buildings, tearing down statues, without any real interference. Those arrested are released almost immediately by liberal judges. This and more has been made evident while watching the news.

God's prophet continued to write of this present time:

“Therefore, the law is powerless (limited by mayors and governors what little they can do—toothless), and justice never goes forth (liberal and political), for the wicked surround the righteous (political clout of the wicked overpowers the righteous, Isaiah 59:14-15); therefore, perverse judgment proceeds.” Habakkuk 1:2-4.

However, all these divisive problems, and more, together with prophecy, implies it will not come to a head until 2025-2026. In the interim, by watching and reading the daily news, it is evident civil war is already brewing.

There is civil unrest in almost every area one can think about. The country is almost equally divided in belief and in practice. Unless this is corrected, this of itself, could lead to self-suicide in short time to come just as President Lincoln made known.

This is substantiated by Jesus Christ who said a house divided cannot endure—it would destroy itself. Matthew 12:25.

“Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and every city or house divided against itself will not stand.”
Matthew 12:25.

It is so utterly sad, not only is Biblical history rejected as of no consequence, but also the Holy Bible, its teachings, and warnings, as it being out of date, archaic!

This was said to this writer some few years ago. Soon, very soon, a terrible price will be paid because of it.

The Biblical Prophecy of Civil War

Another Prophet of God was used by Him to make known civil war is inevitable—due to all of the sinful problems afore mentioned, and worsening. Jeremiah 51:46.

“And lest your heart faint, and you fear for the rumor that will be heard in the land (a rumor will be heard one year, and after that, in another year a rumor will come, and violence in the land Ruler against Ruler). Jeremiah 51:46.

This is speaking of historical duality—the civil war of 1861—and the one to erupt in this country! They are almost identical in every way!

Just a change in time, and possibly the same states. “Ruler against Ruler”, meaning conservative states fighting against the Union with the intention of seceding from this current divided Union!

During this time of warfare between the states, there will be other grave problems taking place as well. All leading to the demise of this country in 2026.

A time of great sorrow amidst much suffering and death. This will be written about in future writings, as a witness and warning, God willing.

Taking into consideration the current world population is 7.9 billion as of August 2021, according to the most recent United Nations estimates elaborated by Worldometer.

With this estimate in mind, the Death Toll from the FOURTH PART of the earth will be almost Two Billion people! This is where this nation and world is heading, and not all that far away!

The Clock is Ticking—90 Seconds to Midnight

Thus says the Lord GOD:

“DOOM has come to you who dwell in the land ... “Now upon you I will SOON pour out My fury, and spend My anger upon you”
Ezekiel 7:7-8.

Considering the 6,000 years God has allotted to this age, and in view of the problems now gripping this nation, and the world, there is no question, but that mankind is rapidly approaching the end of this age.

Time has almost run out!

Tragically, mankind is blinded to it, and what is in store for them. Especially so, considering it does not have to happen this way.

Red Flags of Approaching Disasters

Though there have been previous red flags of warnings in recent years, the warning of the really bad times soon to come to pass in the close of this age, is in the “Pandemic Corona-Virus”.

It appears to be the pilot that has changed the course of this nation and world!

And it will never return—only to be steered in other dramatic course changes, each one after the other—worsening each time – while being piloted into the coming terrible Great Tribulation, and beyond—its final destination, Armageddon.

The battle of Armageddon will bring an end to this present age of 6,000 years.

Jesus Christ will then return to this earth. He will establish His government and iron rule on this world while changing the course of this world from evil to righteousness.

“Thy Kingdom Come.”
